

Roots

There are these people who serve as visionary's in my life they dream of their dream is of the earth and they all speak from the heart to help us find direction for our human presence here on earth

(inst)

Sister Miriam T. MacGillis asks how will we baptize our kids with toxic water and tell'em about God If the earth is sick we will be sick we have got to come home and become members of the community of home

(inst)

Brian Swimme is a man with a vision I can believe in for the passions we search help bind the universe Thomas Berry is a wise man he say we gotta reinvent the human with a new story about our role and how we came to be

(inst)

James Lovelock up there in the English countryside writes of a living being he calls Gaia not a piece of dead rock but alive and evolving all the time As the shell is part of the snail, so the rocks and the air, and the oceans are part of Gaia, a living Gaia